Bakery that served South Haven for 86 years closes

SHOWS STEADY LINE OF CUSTOMERS MAKING PURCHASES ON SATURDAY

After 86 years of serving Southwest Michigan, the Golden Brown Bakery turned off its ovens and served the last customers on Saturday, Dec. 28.

It marked the end of an era that made the bakery a landmark staple in downtown South Haven.

EXCERPTED FROM BAKERY FACEBOOK POSTING

"Founded in 1938 by two sisters, Nona MacKenzie and Blanche Rosenberger, MacKenzie's Bakery began as a small roadside bake stand between Covert and South Haven. With help from John G. MacKenzie and Don Braschler, in the late 1950's, the business continued to grow, guided by a goal of creating and delivering the finest baked goods to Southwest Michigan, with a welcoming space for neighbors to gather. Over the years, it has become a local institution, with generations of families returning for its famous chocolate fried cakes, filled long johns, cheese coffee cakes, specialty decorated cakes, English muffin bread, and other favorites.

"'Our bakery has been more than just a business. It's been my home, a community gathering place, and a source of pride,"" said Dave Braschler, who has owned and operated the bakery for the last 41 years. "We are grateful for the incredible support and loyalty from our customers over the decades. While it's bittersweet to come to this realization and say goodbye, we feel blessed to have been a part of this town's story."

South Haven has had holiday lights competitions before, but not quite like this year. The South Haven Convention and Visitors Bureau partnered with Mayor Annie Brown and Kathy Rusin of Shooting Star to sponsor the Sparkle Showdown.

"This all started when Kathy Rusin from Shooting Star contacted us and said she would like to do a holiday contest," Jennifer Sistrunk, Executive Director of the South Haven Convention & Visitors Bureau, said. "Kathy had some money that she wanted to put towards a contest. With support from our Mayor Annie Brown, who has hosted smaller contests before, we've turned it into a community-wide event."

The sponsors invited all residents in the 49090 Zip Code area to join the South Haven Sparkle Showdown and enter the contest for the most dazzling holiday light display in town. Anyone could register and vote for up to three of the contestants. Contestants chose names for themselves so that they remained anonymous.

Voting closed on December 23rd at midnight and the top three displays were announced on Christmas Eve.

The first-place winner, receiving a check for $1500, was Bob and Marcia Volkers' Ring in Christmas with Joy.

"The Volkers live on Country Road 689 and a lot of their neighbors have been enjoying their display of lights for years," says Sistrunk.

Second place and a check for $1,000 went to Christmas in the Country by Mark and Tammi Dibble. The third-place prize of $500 was given to Christmas Corner Neighborhood Forest "All the Trees You See." This display was put together by a group of neighbors near Indiana Street.

Jeremy Buckingham, who facilitated the neighborhood forest display, says that he and his neighbors plan to donate the prize money. "We donated the funds to the South Haven High School to start a secret Santa club," says Buckingham. "The kids understand giving and they raise funds and then give it away by walking up to random strangers and handing them cash."

Sistrunk says that even though there have been holiday lights contests in the past, this was the inaugural Sparkle Showdown. "We do plan on doing Sparkle Showdown again next year, and, hopefully, it will grow," she says. "We really want to get the town lit up with lights."

Upscale clothing store opens in South Haven

By James Windell

Layla Byrd opened Haven, an upscale clothing store in May, 2024. However, her shop, located at 550 Phoenix wasn't quite the right location for her business.

"When my mom sold the building I was in," Byrd said recently, "I started looking for another space. I wanted to be more accessible and more in the heart of the downtown area."

When a building came up for rent at 505 Phoenix, across from Clementine's restaurant, she called the owner immediately. "We talked and I signed an agreement that same day," says Byrd.

Now moved in and displaying her trendy and hand-curated women's clothing, Byrd is happy with her new location. But the space she left will not stay empty for long, according to Suzanne Brock, Director of the Downtown Development Authority.

"Business downtown is very strong," says Brock. "For the most part, when a building becomes vacant, someone comes in right away. If people are looking for a spot on either Phoenix Street or Center Street, they have to move very quickly to secure a spot."

Brock says that the storefront that Byrd vacated will soon have a new business. "The owner of that building is going to be opening up a Haven Market, where she's going to sell fresh vegetables and market," Brock explains. "She's in the beginning stages of putting all that together. So, I think that's going to happen soon, perhaps just after the holiday season."

In other developments, as was announced a few months ago, the Golden Brown Bakery, at 421 Phoenix is closing. Combining a bakery and restaurant, Golden Brown Bakery has been in South Haven for more than 70 years.

"That will be an open spot and I don't think that we have anyone who is making any moves to put a new business in there," says Brock. "Some people would like to see a bakery open up in there, but I don't know if anyone is interested in opening up a bakery in that building."

Other recent vacancies include 335 Center Street at the corner of Center and Huron Streets. A former candle shop has closed and the pop-up Christmas store next to it will likely close after the Christmas holiday season. "Those two spaces will be available for businesses in the near future," says Brock.

Layla Byrd recognizes that she can only rent space in her current location until September, 2025 when the building and Johnny's Lakeshore Jewelers next door at 501 Phoenix are slated to be closed and demolished to make way for a new building at the corner of Phoenix and Center Streets. Randy Locker of Locker & Locker Properties plans to construct a new five-story building. It is expected that Johnny's Lakeshore Jewelers will be a tenant in that new building. In the meantime, while construction is going on, both Johnny's Lakeshore Jewelers and Haven will have to relocate.

"I know I will have to move," says Layla Byrd, "but my mom and I will look for a new building to buy. I will still be in South Haven, I just don't know where yet."

Alcohol believed to be a factor after vehicle smashes into home

BANGOR TWP. – A Bangor Township home was damaged early Sunday morning, Dec. 29, when a Battle Creek man allegedly drove his vehicle into it. Alcohol is believed to be a contrib-uting factor, according to a press release from the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office.

Van Buren County Sheriff Daniel Abbott said that sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the intersection of 32nd Avenue and 70th Street, in Bangor Township, at approximately 2:30 a.m. for a report of a vehicle having crashed into a house. The driver, a 38-year-old male from Battle Creek, traveling eastbound on 32nd Street, failed to stop at the 'T' intersection with 70th Street, and pro-ceeded to drive through the yard and into the front of a house on the east side of 70th Street.

Sheriff Abbott said the residence was occupied by the homeowner, who was not in the room breached by the vehicle's front end at the time of the crash. The male driver was taken to Corwell Hospital, St. Joseph, as a result of injuries sustained in the crash.

Sheriff Abbott said a search warrant for blood was executed at the hospital and the blood kit was sent to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab for analysis. The investigation remains open, pending results of the blood draw with eventual submission to the Van Buren County Prosecutor's Office for review.

Assisting agencies included the Covert and Pokagon Tribal police departments, Harbor Towing, Van Buren Emergency Medical Services (VBEMS), Bangor Fire & Rescue, and AEP.

Bangor man allegedly threatens Sheriff's deputies with baseball bat and knives

BANGOR TWP. – Van Buren County Sheriff Daniel Abbott reported that sheriff's deputies responded Friday, Dec. 27, at approximately 11 p.m. to the 38000 block of 62nd Street in Bangor Township regarding a welfare check/ PPO violation complaint. The caller advised the suspect ar-rived at the home and was afraid he was going to assault the protected party from a valid personal protection order. The caller advised all occupants of the residence besides the suspect and vic-tim were safe and had left the home and were awaiting law enforcements arrival.

When deputies arrived, they made contact with the caller, being the homeowner who let them into the residence. Once inside the residence, the suspect was found to be barricaded in a back bedroom with the protected party member, being a 33-year-old female. Deputies attempted to get the suspect to exit the bedroom by giving lawful commands. The suspect refused to com-ply. At one point the suspect came out armed with a baseball bat making threats to kill the depu-ties on scene. The suspect threw the bat at deputies and retreated into the bedroom with the vic-tim.

After a short verbal exchange, the suspect exited the bedroom armed with two knives. A taser was deployed but was ineffective. The suspect threw one of the knives at the deputies. The suspect again retreated into the bedroom, according to Sheriff Abbott.

After a lengthy negotiation, the suspect finally exited the bedroom and was taken into custody without any further incident. No injuries were sustained to either party nor the victim. The sus-pect was lodged on several felony charges including welfare check/ PPO violation, kidnapping, resisting and obstructing, and interfere with telecommunications.

BLOOMINGDALE TWP. - Two subjects are in custody and others are facing charges after Van Buren County Sheriff's deputies were involved in the pursuit of a stolen vehicle that stemmed from an investigation into a burglary of multiple storage units in Bloomingdale Township, accord-ing to a press release from the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office.

Van Buren County Sheriff Daniel Abbott said on Friday, Dec. 27, at 10:15 a.m., Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to a storage unit facility in the 13000 block of County Road 665 in Bloomingdale Township for a report of multiple units being broken into four hours prior. During the investigation, it was determined that a 2005 Jeep Wrangler was stolen along with a significant amount of other personal property. After taking the initial complaint, deputies began checking the surrounding areas and were able to locate the Jeep at a residence in the 13000 block of 49th Street in Columbia Township. The Jeep was occupied by one subject who refused orders from deputies and fled in the vehicle. Deputies pursued the vehicle through Columbia and Bangor townships for approximately 20 minutes until the Jeep became disabled and stuck in a field. The suspect, a 32-year-old male from Kalamazoo, fled on foot and attempted to hide in a barn on the property. He was located by deputies and taken into custody without further incident. During his arrest, deputies located methamphetamine in his possession.

After that subject was in custody, deputies returned to the address on 49th Street where they drafted and executed a search warrant for other stolen property. During the search they lo-cated property from the storage units as well as a camper trailer that had been reported stolen out of Kalamazoo. Deputies conducted multiple interviews and were able to establish probable cause to arrest a 45-year-old male from the Bloomingdale area for his role in the burglary.

Reports are being reviewed by the Van Buren County Prosecutor's Office for possible charges on other subjects who were located and interviewed at that residence as well.

Uniform Response handled a larceny complaint in Paw Paw Township. Someone went into a Van Buren Emergency Medical Services (VBEMS) garage bay and stole a battery out of the engine compartment of an ambulance that was setting there. Deputies are actively working on the larceny.

"I would like to thank the community for all the support to not only to me, but to all the elected officials in the county. I was sworn in with other elected officials on Friday, Dec. 27 at 3 p.m. I'm once again looking forward to serving as your sheriff in Van Buren County," said Sheriff Abbott.

Uniform Response and Animal Control executed a search warrant in Porter Township for an animal neglect case. Five dogs were confiscated and were in poor condition and two deceased dogs were located and taken as well. Deputies are actively searching for the homeowners/dog owners. Road Commission approves 2025 budget

LAWRENCE - The Board of County Road Commissioners of Van Buren County unanimously approved the agency's 2025 budget at its December meeting. The Road Commission strives to be the best possible steward of the revenue it receives by balancing the needs and wants of the community with the funding it receives. The challenge is maintaining and improving the 1,313 miles of roadways the Road Commission is responsible for, while Michigan Transportation Funds continue to fall short and are not able to keep up with inflation.

To determine where the limited funds can best be used, the VBCRC uses the following process:

- 5-Year Asset Management Plan that is reviewed annually by the Board.
- The VBCRC submits applications for critical bridge funding annually, and every three years for road project funding.
- Equipment and facilities are maintained and improved. All equipment and facility needs are reviewed annually for a 3-Year Plan.

In addition, the VBCRC is committed to applying for as many grants as possible to maximize its limited funds. In the past few months, the VBCRC has received grants totaling $8,000,000, with a local match of $4,000,000 for projects taking place over the next three to four years. And the VBCRC is only able to have funds available for the local match because of the commitment of the county residents in renewing the county-wide millage. Without the county-wide road millage these projects would not be possible.

The State of Michigan recommends Road Commissions maintain a fund balance ranging between 20-25 percent of annual budgets. Keeping in line with this, the Road Commission's Preliminary 2025 budget maintains a fund balance of 23.97 percent based upon annual expenditures.

The current outlook for the Van Buren County road system is positive through maintaining a healthy fund balance, careful planning and grant awards. Unfortunately bridge funding is anticipated to decrease by five percent per year, statewide. Additionally, the Michigan Transportation fund has not kept up with inflation over the past 25 years, resulting in an annual deficit for our Road Commission of over $4 million. These deficits continue to place an additional burden on our local funds and will result in the need for additional revenues if we are to keep up with current road and bridge maintenance and improvement plans.

The Road Commission's budget is adjusted by the Board, as necessary, and is available on the agency's website at www.vbcrc.org/budget. Any questions regarding the budget or planning process can be directed to Finance and Human Resources Director, Linnea Rader via email at linnearader@vbcrc.org or by phone at (269) 674-8011 ext. 233, or to Bret Witkowski, Managing Director, via email at bretwitkowski@vbcrc.org or by phone at (269) 674-8011 ext. 222.

A lot going on in little ol' Pullman

By Gari Voss

The sleepy village of Pullman has taken on a new look over the last couple of years. Beautify Pullman has taken the lead with improvement grants that add additional streetside foliage, a historical mural, and a Town Square complete with a train for kids to climb, a children's wall and pavilion.

In collaboration with the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) and passionate individuals, a memorial was added to the Town Square that honors those from Pullman who defended their country.

The volunteers and residents of Pullman did not sit back on their laurels during 2024. In January, they welcomed Amber Mortensen to Pullman Elementary when their former principal, Melissa Corona, accepted a position at the Van Buren ISD as Director of Instructional Services. This has been an important link in the community along with People Helping People that continued to support the community with the Linking Center and Worship Center. Pullman's children and families flourish through the work of volunteers.

After much networking, March brought a free public WiFi hotspot to the Pullman Town Square. This brought addition traffic as residents enjoyed the Square while catching up on their computers and phones.

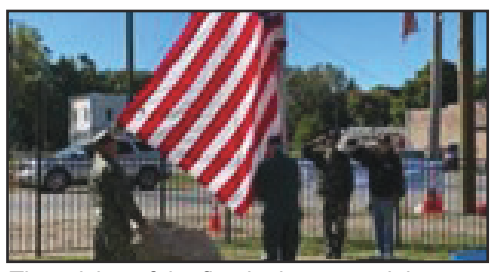
At the end of May, the Memorial Day festivities included a flag raising at Pullman Town Square, a free community picnic, the annual Memorial Day parade sponsored by Pullman VFW Post 6134, and a Memorial Service held at Lee Township Cemetery. This has become an annual event, and each year brings a few surprises and lots of good food.

June kicked off the weekly Pullman Summer Concerts Series with a local favorite, The Black River Band. Families and individuals could bring their picnics and enjoy some food on the Square. Through June, July and August, visitors enjoyed Lynn & the Moonshine Runners, Michael & Sophia McIntosh, McKinney & Brown, Michael Mulett, the Jimmy Savage Band, the Kevin McDaniel House Band, Descarga Musical, Life Bait and the Perfect Storm.

Also beginning in June came the Farmers Market at Pullman. The Market opened each Thursday in the Pullman Town square and featured produce, eggs, cider, bakery goods, and crafts. Frequently on the Square were Country Roads Kettle Corn, Wiley Rooster Farm & Greenhouse, Bluegold Regenerative Organics, Jeni's Sweet Tooth Bakery, Overhiser Orchards, Down Home Farm Eggs, Country Life Natural Foods, and Pullman Pie Company. Visitors could get information from Lake Michigan College and Meals on Wheels while listening to live music by Panda Pete and enjoying complimentary coffee, lemonade, and hot dogs.

July 4th, the annual Pullman Pride Day celebration raised over $3000 for the Dee Wesbey Pullman Pride Scholarship fund. The day featured a pancake breakfast, the 3rd Annual Pullman car show, a craft fair, Pullman History Museum tours, a senior lunch, a cornhole tournament, and a concert by the Jimmy Savage Band. The streets and square were rocking!

The Square may have seemed a little quiet at times, but the MFS RealPlay Arena was beginning to attract families and individuals for "electrifying activities, including family game tournaments, karaoke showdowns, live music events, and more." Daniel Tood believed it was time for Pullman to have a family fun place, so he built it. Holidays are always special, while he took time to have a Walk-a-Thon and to earn money for those who suffer from addictions. As 2024 ends and 2025 begins, Daniel and the gang will have more opportunities for the Pullman community while offering a place to have private birthday parties and gatherings.



The raising of the flag in the memorial corner of the Pullman Town Square starts many events.

The Farmers Market at Pullman brought shoppers and visitors to the Town Square to purchase a variety of produce, baked goods, and more through June, July and August.

MFS RealPlay offered families, friends and individuals a fun place to go to enjoy games, music and camaraderie in Pullman, so people did not have to drive far for a night out.

In a few years, the streets and yards of Pullman will have wonderful shade trees. Fourteen were planted to replace trees taken out by the county during the road improvement project.

Creating a streetscape that will allow people to move smoothly around the Pullman area will not be easy, but Beautify Pullman and other members of the community are working to make this happen

In mid-November, Beautify Pullman Set Sail for Disaster during their new adventure by hosting a murder mystery dinner fundraiser at Fenn Valley Winery

October focused on bicycle safety. Bikes are just one way children can travel safely to school. Learning about how to ride safely and to take care of bicycles was the theme of the day. The frosting on the cake were the bike racks that were installed by the Town Square and Post Office.

Beautify Pullman rolled out the red carpet in October for a Bicycle Rodeo event that combined teaching bicycle safety with fun. Bicycle tune-ups were offered, and free helmets were given to all children who participated. The community became more bicycle-friendly with the installation of a bicycle fix-it station, and bicycle racks in downtown Pullman.

Over two weeks at the beginning of November, 14 trees were planted in downtown Pullman to replace trees lost during roadwork and to add shade to the Pullman Town Square. The town is grateful for the generosity of the Mignon Sherwood DeLano Foundation that gave a grant to replace trees on 56th street and 109th avenue. Also, thanks to Ron and Sue Barrett for the donation of trees and of equipment and labor to plant the trees. Finally, thanks to Kathy Burczak of Abonmarche Consultants and Dan Pastoor of Twin Lakes Nursery for assistance in choosing trees that will thrive.

In December, over 400 neighbors gathered in Pullman for the ANNUAL HOLIDAY SOCIAL. All received a hot meal of ham or roast beef, sides and desserts. Santa and Mrs. Claus arrived on a fire truck with gifts for children ages 12 and under.

The leadership around Pullman keeps looking forward. During 2024, a grant allowed the community to solicit the talents of Abonmarche to evaluate the area and begin the process of creating a Placemaking and Connectivity Plan. The group also looked at creating Safe Routes to School (SRTS). After hours of examining possible paths to school, the store, the health clinic, etc., the Abonmarche team was able to present their findings to the Beautify Pullman Board and other community leaders.

There is still much to do before the goals of the groups supporting the Pullman populations come to fruition. It will require one step at a time, and lots of moxie to keep reaching forward.

Area girl to travel to the Netherlands to represent America in The Cup

An area girl has been selected to represent America in The Cup, which will be held this month in the Netherlands.

Haley Lhamon, a freshman at Mattawan High School, has been playing softball since the age of four, when she started T-ball. After playing Little League from age four to age nine, she decided she wanted to take it to the next level and started competing in travel ball. Lhamon played for Kalamazoo Kings 9u and 10u. She then started playing for the Finesse organization, where she has played ever since.

Lhamon loves to play the game and has become an amazing softball player that can play infield or outfield, but her heart has always been behind the plate, according to her mother, Heather Lhamon. She would catch every game that she could many times catching four or five games a day in tournaments and never looking like she was tired or hot even when it was 90 degrees.

Heather Lhamon described her daughter as "a beast behind that plate. At the plate, she has become fearless with hitting three home runs this last season and looks forward to many more," as a freshman.

The event is the second most prestigious international softball event in the world behind the Olympics.

The Cup is in its 29th year. First held in Lyon, France and then moved 25 years ago to the Netherlands. Countries and national level athletes from the Czech Republic, Sweden, Italy, Germany, Belgium, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, etc. will be part of who makes up the tournament event's team lineup.

Haley will also be taking in some history, culture, cuisine and the adventure of traveling to Ann Frank's home in Amsterdam, then on to Paris where she will take in the sites of Notre Dame, the Louvre, the Mona Lisa, Napoleon's Palace, the Eiffel Tower and a host of other world class educational opportunities.

South Haven diver celebrates second place

South Haven's Clara Hoag (center) stands on the podium after taking second at the state diving finals.

By John Raffel

Clara Hoag's career as a diver at South Haven High School is one she'll remember for a very long time.

Hoag finished second at the state meet in November.

Hoag had a final score of 364.45 at the meet to finish second behind Anna McAllister of Chelsea, who had a score of 407.40.

"I was undefeated during the dual meet season," Hoag said. "I was conference runner-up this year and was second at the Division 3 state finals (in the one-meter dive)."

Hoag began diving in 2021 in her high school freshman year.

"I had been a gymnast for about seven years," Hoag said. "I started swimming in middle school and I always loved the idea of diving. We got the opportunity to have a diving coach my freshman year in South Haven. I gave it a shot and it ended up being something I really loved and something I'm really event.

"I focused on diving. I did a few relays at some of our high school meets. Diving is my primary event. (This year) I made a lot of improvements in my dive. I got some new advanced dives in there; I also improved my scores in both my six-dives and 11-dives records."

The key in being a good diver, Hoag said, "is surrounding yourself with people supporting you and having a good environment. It really uplifts you and encourages you."

Hoag is going to continue club diving for the winter, spring and summer

"I've reached out to a few colleges about joining their college and diving programs," she said. "I have not made a decision yet.

"My diving career has been unique. I not only have teammates from South Haven but I practice with girls from Kalamazoo who are also divers. That/s impacted my self-confidence. There's a wide variety of people who give me support and it means a lot to me."

Gobles junior a spark for basketball team

Aden Newberry looks to be a top scorer for Gobles this season

By John Raffel
Correspondent

GOBLES — Aden Newberry is poised to have a very good season for Gobles boys basketball team. This will be his third year.

"Going in as a freshman, it was tough," Newberry recalled. "Sophomore year we got coach Curtis as our new coach and it was a learning experience."

Newberry got all-conference honorable mention honor last season.

When he is not the court, "I think they look for me to do a little bit of everything," he said. "I can score down low, be a leader, do a little bit of everything."

Newberry is usually one of the top scorers on the team.

His highest point total so far this year is 17 points. "I think I have a pretty good mid-range jumper," Newberry said. "I think I'm a good defender. I can block shots pretty well."

A team goal, Newberry said, would be to win districts and make it deep into the playoffs and be a conference contenders. The key in each game, he said, is communicating. Sometimes we don't communicate very well on the floor and making sure we do the right things."

Coloma "will be a pretty tough team," Newberry said.

Newberry plays basketball year round.

Newberry's sophomore season of track and field at Gobles was a very good one.

He was a distance runner for Gobles.

"I almost broke five minutes in the mile," he said."Me and my 4 by 8 team set a PR by 20 seconds."

His mile PR was a 5:00.8 at the Centreville Invitational.

Gobles wrestler is off to excellent start

Colton Colingsworth, of Gobles, works on his opponent in recent action

By John Raffel
Correspondent

Colton Colingsworth and his Gobles wrestling team is off to a promising start so far.

The Gobles varsity wrestling has gone 2-0 in dual matches and winning the team title at the Burton Richards Memorial and taking second at the Grover Memorial.

Gobles had nine medalists in both tournaments where they competed against top ranked teams.

"Going 8-2 for the season so far I have greatly improved from previous years," Colingsworth, who wrestles at 175 pounds, said. "Compared to last season I have been wrestling smarter, and with better defense. My shot defense and ability to scramble were areas I sought to improve going into this season and I can confidently say I have made significant progress thanks to my coaches and teammates who continue to push me harder every week.

"As an upperclassman and an experienced wrestler I am a role model to the younger guys. I am establishing myself as a leader to the team and am setting a standard for myself and Gobles wrestling going forward. My freshman and sophomore seasons I was learning and finding my way through this sport. This season I am still learning of course but now I can see myself helping and inspiring others. I feel that I have a positive impact on my team and my community."

Colingsworth was asked for his fundamental strengths as a performer.

"I would say that my mentality, pace, and perspective on my sport are cornerstones of my performance," he answered. "I have learned to let go of outcomes, records, and titles; the only thing that matters is who wrestles harder, as I've put in all the work already. Now I get to put myself to the test and prove my dedication to wrestling.

"Going into the 2024-25 season I knew where I was lacking and I spent the time I've had to work on my defensive wrestling: head, hands, defense and sprawls. I have also learned how to focus my mind and reset myself. At the Grover memorial I not only led my team in match points and takedowns but I also led the tournament in match points, winning gold and securing 20-plus team points. I owe all my success and improvement to my coaches who have had faith in me throughout my high school career."

Colingsworth added: "Looking back to the beginning of the season and my ambitions for this season I believe I am on track to achieve my goals. I have seen more success than expected but that's only the beginning, I must continue to work hard to meet my season goals.

"So far the team has set our standard of high pace and relentless mentality, that was the expectation going into this season. We've started out well but we can't get comfortable, and we will continue to push ourselves and push our standards every week."

Colingsworth said he's been in baseball at Gobles for several years however he is not likely to return to baseball this coming spring as he intends to focus on offseason wrestling and continue improving.

"Wrestling has given me a place to test myself and compete," he said. "I owe a lot to this sport and my coaches. I am proud to be a Gobles wrestler and be part of this legacy. After the 2024-25 season comes to a close I will seek out every opportunity to wrestling in the offseason to prepare myself for my senior season.

"I'm very excited for this season and how our team will perform in the postseason."

Former Mattawan star shines for national champs

By John Raffel
Corespondent

Former Mattawan football standout Jalen Jones enjoyed a very productive season with NCAA Division II national champion Ferris State University on Dec. 21 defeating Valdosta State (Ga.) 49-14 for the school's third national title in the past four seasons.

Jones is a junior defensive back for Ferris. He was the team's second leading tackler. In 15 games, he had 32 solo tackles and 25 assists for 57 total. He had nine tackles for losses totaling 27 yards. He had a team high five interceptions for 70 yards and one pass breakup.

In the title game at McKinney, Texas, against Valdosta, Jones had two tackles and two assists.

He was a standout defensive back at Mattawan High School and earned numerous varsity letters. Jones was a multi-year performer and letterwinner on the prep level and named to the Kalamazoo Gazette Football Dream Team. He played quarterback on the offensive side of the ball and was also an all-conference basketball selection. He was a dual-threat signal caller with the ability to make big plays.

Going into the national title game. Jones was confident.

"We are really excited to play this team," Jones said. "This is our biggest competition so far. We're really confident. We are confident in our preparation. We just need to play hard and give them a run for their money."

Ferris in the national semifinal game vs. Slippery Rock was down 38-27 at halftime but had a 21-0 second half scoring advantage for a 48-38 win.

"Our team is good at adjusting at halftime and coming into the second half. It was a matter of us capitalizing on our adjustments and making plays which we weren't in the first half," Jones said.

"We're confident because we prepare real hard and that makes us confident we'll get the win. We come out and try to do our thing every week. We just try to put a Cheerio on our opponent's side of the board."

VIEWPOINT

Dose of DOGE needed to curb government spending

Maybe DOGE has a good thing going. DOGE, the acronym for Trump's new Department of Government Efficiency headed by Elon Musk and Vivek Ramaswamy, has been charged with eliminating waste and inefficiency at the federal government level.

I have been a big proponent of eliminating government waste, and like the last few years, I would like to tell you about several wasteful programs as outlined by Sen. Rand Paul in his annual Festivus Report. The report is 41 pages long and provides us with a whopping $1 trillion plus in government waste.

Here are a few of the highlights:

- DOGE talks a lot about empty government buildings. Sen. Paul claims the federal government spent over $10 billion in 2024 maintaining, leasing and furnishing these entirely empty buildings.
- Many businesses received pandemic funding from the federal government. Many smaller businesses did not. I received a small amount but was told I couldn't get more because the fund was depleted. Here's one reason why. A Florida man stole $8 million in COVID relief funds to buy his own private island. A failing trucking company received a $7 million COVID grant.
- Unbelievably the Department of Health and Human Services spent $420,000 to study if lonely rats seek cocaine more than happy rats.
- The Department of State awarded $2.1 million to Paraguay for border security. I find that strange. We don't much care if our border is secure, but we will fork over money to secure an obscure South American country's border.
- Speaking of other countries, the Department of Agriculture is spending $20 million to advance the use of fertilizer in Pakistan, Vietnam, Colombia and Brazil.
- Elsewhere abroad, the Agency for International Development is spending $20 million on creating a new Sesame Street show for Iraqi children.
- American taxpayers have provided $174 billion in aid and military assistance to Ukraine, however the Department of State felt it was a brilliant idea to drop an additional $4.8 million to the influencers it KYIV, Ukraine public affairs. Now we can view more Ukrainian propaganda on Instagram and Tik Tok.
- Again, from the endless coffers of the State Department, they doled out $3 million to a girl-centered climate action organization in Brazil.
- Since 2022, Dr. Fauci, longtime leader of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases approved a 2.24 million grant to study whether cats can contract and transmit COVID-19. The answer was "yes," and those that were infected were slaughtered.
- Cats and experiments seem to be synonymous. Nearly $11 million was spent by the Department of Defense funneled to the University of Pittsburg to force the felines to defecate marbles via electric shock.
- It's only $10,000, but its still our money, and the National Endowment of the Arts, awarded It to the Bearded Ladies Cabaret so that they could perform a cabaret show on ice skates focused on climate change.
- Of course, the biggest waste of money is the interest we are paying each year to support our national debt. Would you believe $892 billion? Next year we are expected to hit the trillion mark and in 10 years we will be at $1.7 trillion. That's just interest, folks. And you complain about your credit card interest? At least you are somewhat fiscally responsible. Those that distribute our tax monies have been irresponsible for decades.

MIKE WILCOX ■ PUBLISHER ■

I believe a dose of DOGE is just what the doctor ordered. Hopefully they can complete their mission.

Life as Performance Art

'Twas a week before Christmas and all the preparations were done. Well, almost.

The Nativity creche Pat received as a child is in place on the fireplace mantle. It is always the first decoration to go up and the last to go back into storage.

The icicle lights are in place along the roofline — and still working. The wreath is on the door, tree up, presents wrapped and Christmas music on the hi-fi.

Yet something is missing: the Christmas cards. Have you written and mailed yours yet?

We are behind on sending out ours this year. Usually they're addressed by the end of November, the letter written, revised, copied and folded, and are in the mail by now. Not this year.

We ordered the cards early enough, I bought the stamps and fussed at the clerk about the price. I engaged in an old tradition of asking why they always had stamps depicting the Madonna, but never Lady Gaga. The clerk rolled his eyes; the others in line laughed.

Yet the cards still sit on the far end of the dining room table, along with a little recipe box full of names, addresses and when we last sent or received a card from someone.

When I collect the mail this year, there are fewer cards, leaving me to wonder if they are becoming things of the past.

It was not always that way. When we were growing up, Mother would buy nice, more expensive cards for some recipients, mid-range for most, then a quick stop at Woolworths to buy cheap cards for my sister and me to send. Mother spent hours addressing envelopes, writing a short note in each card and signing them on behalf of our family.

Father took a practical and jaundiced view of this tradition. "We see these people all the time, so why do we need to send them cards?" he'd ask. "Do you realize stamps cost a penny more — four cents! — this year?" He would have his say, then drop the subject and let Mother get on with her fun.

Mind you, he had his fun when he carefully looked at every incoming envelope to see if the stamp had been cancelled. If the Post Office missed one, it was a small bonus. He would carefully cut it off, soak it in water to loosen the stamp from the paper and then use it a second time. He wasn't being cheap, just thrifty.

For many years I continued the tradition in my own anarchistic way. When I was in junior high school I sometimes stopped by the Ma Bell office to look at the bookcase full of telephone directories. I'd pick out a couple names and addresses from faraway cities and then send them cards, adding something like, "Hope to hear from you - it's been a long time." That is optimism and implied guilt, all in one sentence.

I smiled, knowing they would get the card, look at it and the return address, then spend a fascinating evening trying to figure out who I was and how we knew each other.

I only sent them to people from the upper Midwest, because they were invariably polite. Before the Christmas tree came down, we would receive a card from them. In turn, Father would see the card, suddenly being polite overcome thrift and he'd reluctantly say we should send them — whoever "they" were — one in retiurns.

This went on for a couple years until the time at the church circle Christmas lunch when Grace Bonestien, the operator, ratted on me. She told Mother about my little enterprise, which Mother found amusing.

Her best friend overheard and chimed in her daughter was doing the same thing. I was accused by both mothers for being the instigator. Well, of course I was.

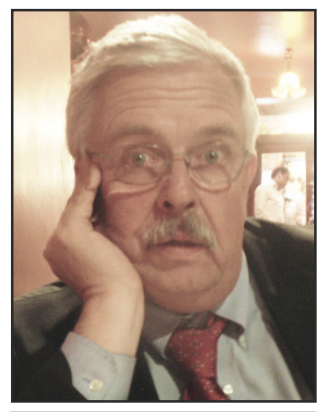
Throughout the holidays we delighted in getting cards from our friends. The fronts were always a beautiful picture that tried to capture the essence of the holidays.

Every night after dinner we would open the envelopes, Father would check to make sure the stamp was cancelled, read the card and name of the sender, then pass Mother the envelope so she could make sure her card file was up to date. She would put an "x" in the received column and check to make sure the sent column also had an "x."

Each day's collection was added to a wooden sleigh that our great uncle Fred had made years earlier.

Best of all were cards The Olds called "Merry Medico Missives." Those letters were organ recitals of various body parts that were not working as they should, surgeries, treatments and more.

One year, a mother told the tale of her child's flatulence, which was notable for its volume. The next year she gave a detailed saga of her hemorrhoidectomy. Both contained too much information.



G CORWIN STOPPEL

Christmas cards a small part of our holiday tradition, but taken together with all the other small parts, it became meaningful and important.

When Pat and I began sending our cards a quarter century ago, we probably mailed off more than 100. This year, we will be lucky if we reach 40. Many of the people we knew are no longer with us. Others have quit sending cards, and probably don't care one way or another if they receive one. Still others now send electronic greeting cards.

A Post Office clerk confirmed there are far fewer Christmas cards sent each year. I mentioned maybe it had to do with the cost of stamps, now hovering just north of 70 cents each.

She agreed, adding that because people were sending fewer cards the Post Office was not making enough money, so they have to keep raising the cost of stamps.

Somehow, that doesn't seem logical much less right, but then it is the government.

Pat and I will maintain this old tradition. We will send our cards to stay in touch, to let people know that we are thinking of them, and to be kind.

To all of you, have a joyous and Merry Christmas!

Donald Peter Brezinski

It is with heavy hearts we announce the passing of Donald Peter Brezinski, 78, of Paw Paw, MI. Don left us peacefully, in his sleep, Dec. 18, 2024. Don's life was one of profound curiosity, boundless love, and unrelenting passion for discovery. He will be deeply missed by all who knew him.

Born on Dec. 2, 1946, in Detroit, MI, to the late Peter and Nadia Brezinski, Don's intellect and thirst for knowledge were evident from a very early age. His academic journey, based on a wild proficiency for science and mathematics, sent him to University of Detroit Jesuit High School where he joined the "Men of Honor"- friends that he would claim for the next 60 years. His days being a classical pianist and National Merit scholar and his four-year claim to the National Honor Society were just the beginning of a life full of notables.

From the beginning of his career where he sequenced DNA to the end of his life where he shared his fascination of an infinite universe, Don's life was all about discovery. From his patents to his travels, Don was always studying his place... his role in an ever-expanding universe. Where did he fit? What more could he learn? What more could he give? His doctoral studies in medicine, physics and biochemistry uncovered the complexities of base DNA. His analytic work at Corning claimed ground-breaking patents that we still use today. His work with Artificial Intelligence at Bell Labs was nothing short of pioneering. Everything he touched found wildly incredible results.

Don's study of philosophy and passion for discovery took him all over the world. He traveled to more than 50 countries, climbing mountains, bicycling across Europe, and even sleeping under the Eiffel Tower. The adventure and curiosity never stopped.

Don's life of discovery was the gift that he shared with the people he loved and with the world itself, and we are all better for it.

Don is pre-deceased by the love of his life, Patricia Canete, but leaves behind a life full of friends who call him family.

Family and friends are invited to visit on Saturday, Jan. 11, 2025, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Adams Funeral Home, 502 W. Michigan Ave., Paw Paw. A memorial service will be held at 1 p.m. Don will be laid to rest at St. Mary's Cemetery, Paw Paw.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

List of Biden achievements is baloney

To the Editor of the Courier-Leader –

A recent letter to your good paper included an alphabetized inventory of so-called successes of the soon-to-be relieved Biden/Harris/Obama/Clinton presidency. It was a long laundry list, and I will concede that not all the laundry was dirty. I can somewhat agree with the writer as there have admittedly been a few positive accomplishments since January of 2021.

On first reading I was prepared to ignore the selectively incomplete list because I am hopeful that 20 January 2025 will not come too soon, but then the tragic news of a woman being set on fire by an illegal immigrant in the New York subway was reported (can you say "Laken Riley" Mr. Biden?), and now I feel compelled to add some of my own suggestions to the list of so-called Biden "achievements":

- Dramatic reductions in military recruiting, readiness and morale
- Loss of billions of dollars' worth of armor to the Taliban, needlessly lost American and allied lives, and a continuing flow of money to a woman- and Christian-persecuting Afghan regime after our tragic surrender to the terrorists of Kabul
- Unpunished invasions of American airspace and telecom sites by foreign adversaries
- Billions of unaudited contributions to the Ukrainians to include American missiles now being launched into Russia
- Increased numbers of abortions of American babies
- Greater use of RICO laws and the FACE act to harass, persecute and prosecute peaceful anti-abortion protesters
- More unprosecuted attacks on churches and pregnancy resource centers
- Increasing numbers of different genders despite both science and tradition
- More persistent attempts to normalize sex change mutilation surgeries of minors
- An unqualified but box-checking Supreme Court Justice who cannot define "woman"
- Increased cost of food and energy and inflation in general
- An "Inflation Reduction Act" which doesn't
- 87,000 new IRS agents with a "promise" not to audit incomes less than $400,000.00
- Student loan forgiveness despite a Supreme Court ruling that it was unconstitutional (I paid off my student loans, who paid yours?)
- Continuing vilification of those who are "not paying their fair share" whatever that is
- An unsustainably swollen national debt and deficit and consequent interest payments
- More and more university, government and corporate diversity, inclusion and equity (DIE) offices with fewer results as we become even more intolerant of one another
- Increased per pupil public funding of K thru 12 education with a continued drop in math, science, reading and academic performance
- More boys in girls' sports, locker rooms and bathrooms
- Uncountable and unaccountable millions of illegal alien invaders including known criminals and military-age men from unfriendly countries such as Communist China
- Hundreds of thousands of lost alien children, sex slaves and fentanyl deaths
- 37 federal death row presidential commutations of murderers and child pornographers
- Presidential pardon of 11 plus years of Hunter Biden's crimes, most yet unknown
- Disastrous government, media and pharma company behavior during Covid times
- Ironically, record purchases of privately-owned firearms consequent to all of the above as folks naturally choose to rely less and less on the government for security

Considering recent revelations that Joe Biden has been mentally incompetent for most of his tenure, perhaps if we can determine who has been running the Office of President while involved in the scandalous cover-up, the blame for the above incomplete list of failures should fall upon their shoulders: don't blame Joe, blame his anonymous handlers. Whoever is responsible, the 46th President will be remembered as the worst of all 47. God bless America.

"It was just really exiting," Bell said. "It's the best we've ever done at state. I've been to state three years. It's the first tike we've place at the finals. Our coach is super inspiration.. She does a lot for us. She is constantly try giving ups inspiration and mental preparation."

Bell was the anchor of the 200 medley relay and the lead on the other relay.

Bell indicated being the lead leg "is definitely more scary than being the anchor because you're starting the race,; Bell said. "You have to have a fast start off the block.
